To whom it may concern

Because we are a business that requires a high level of accuracy, quality and most importantly safety, we in the past have had our own electrical team on site to deliver our electrical requirements. Because of the changing business environment we have had to out source many of these tasks. We arranged for Lee at Innovations Electrical to visit our site to estimate then carry out many different tasks in our plant from industrial building electrical work through to re-installing power to some of our large CNC machines.

All of the tasks we required were completed on time and sometimes at difficult times of the day with any variations to the task discussed with us before going ahead. The standard of work was excellent and Lee and his staff fitted in well with our team working around them.

We will not hesitate to use Innovations Electrical in the future and we would certainly recommend Innovations Electrical to other companies with similar electrical requirements.

Kind Regards

Ben Byers
